HONOLULU, HI – All four Hawai'i mayors are scheduled to appear on the January 26, 8:00 pm live broadcast of Insights on PBS Hawai'i. Insights is also live streamed on pbshawaii.org.

Alan Arakawa (Maui County), Kirk Caldwell (Honolulu County), Bernard Carvalho (Kaua'i County) and Harry Kim (Hawai'i County) will be discussing priorities for each of their counties, as they face 2017 with new city and county councils, and a new state legislative session. Two of them, Caldwell and Kim, are also beginning new terms.

As controversial issues including GMOs and commercial real estate development continue to take hold, the mayors will discuss increasing divisions across and within the counties, and how each island county can work together as a unified state.

Insights on PBS Hawai'i is a public affairs program that airs live on Thursday nights at 8:00 on PBS Hawai'i and pbshawaii.org.
